Ongoing Safety Support, Termination Transition Document

Client: [CLIENT LEGAL NAME] Client code: GL-[CLIENT-CODE] Engagement start date: [YYYY-MM-DD] Last service month: [MONTH YYYY] Transition document date: [YYYY-MM-DD]

1. Purpose of this document

This document is the final written deliverable from GigLine at the end of the Ongoing Safety Support engagement. It exists so that:

- The client knows the current state of every corrective action still open on the last day of the engagement.
- The next person or firm responsible for the client's safety program has a factual starting point.
- GigLine leaves a clean record of what was and was not delivered.

This is not a report on the client's overall compliance. It is a hand-off record.

2. Engagement summary

METRIC	VALUE
Total service months	#
Findings opened during engagement	#
Findings verified and closed during engagement	#
Findings still open on last service day	#
Findings deferred at client direction	#
Recordable events, if known	#

3. Open findings as of the last service day

For each finding still open, list:

- Finding ID
- Discovered date

- Standard reference
- Description
- Current owner (client-side)
- Target date
- Status as of the last visit
- Verification method that will be required to close

Attach or reference the most recent version of the corrective-action tracker.

4. Deferred findings

Findings the client formally chose to defer, with the client-side authorizer and rationale on record. Listed here so that the next responsible party does not treat them as unknown.

5. Recommended next steps

GigLine's recommendation for the next 90 days, based on the last service visit.

3. [Recommendation]

6. Records held by GigLine

At the client's written direction:

- ☐ All records held off-site by GigLine have been returned to the client on [YYYY-MM-DD].
- ☐ All records held off-site by GigLine have been securely destroyed on [YYYY-MM-DD].

Records that GigLine retains internally for the six-year retention period (Section 9 of the master agreement) are the GigLine-generated summaries, tracker snapshots, and internal ledgers. Client-originated records that were held for scanning or review have been returned or destroyed as noted above.

7. What this document is not

- Not an OSHA-approved audit.
- Not a certification that the client is or is not compliant.
- Not a warranty on the state of the safety program on the last service day or after.
- Not a legal opinion.

The employer retains full authority and responsibility for its workplace, employees, supervision, corrective actions, and compliance obligations after the engagement ends.

8. Closing

We appreciate the trust the client placed in GigLine during the engagement. If, at any point, the client would like to resume Ongoing Safety Support, engage a separately scoped service, or ask a question about anything documented here, we are available.
